

Rural Resilience Indian Excellence

NCRI ANNOUNCEMENT FOR RESEARCH PROJECTS/SURVEY – TO STUDY OF FARMERS RESILIENCE

NCRI invites project proposal from the faculty of the university departments to study/survey the farmers resilience from natural and man-made calamities in Costal Andhra, Rayalaseema in Andhra Pradesh and in South Karnataka in Karnataka State. The proposed grant is ₹ 2,00,000/- for each project and the project duration is for 3 months.

1. An amount of ₹ 50,000/- will be released on submission of inception report at the end of first month,
2. another ₹ 50,000/- will be released on completion of field work and report at the end of second month and
3. on submission of final report ₹ 1,00,000/- will be released. The study/ survey report will be published by NCRI at NCRI cost.

The last date for submission of project proposal is extended upto 28th March 2018.

Eligibility: Faculty from university department having interest to work on Rural Concerns.

Note: The interested faculty members are requested to send the synopsis of the research proposal as per guidelines attached to aps@ncri.in. For further details contact Dr.D.N.Dash, Asst. Director, NCRI Ph: 040-23422112, 09848038112 (SMS for details).

NB:- Those who have already applied need not apply again.